Seco

Coal mining is not as lively as most of us would like to see it—but this old world never has been just as we would like to see it.

Speaking of schools, Seco is a believer in that wonderful and much neglected scripture, Bring the child up in a way that he should come, even when he is old he will not depart therefrom. The first month of our school year is gone, leaving its results welded upon the minds of 167 boys and girls whose are to be the factors morally, commercially, politically and spiritually of the product of the community where they are destined to live as men and women. Parents, what a charge God has given you! Teachers, what a glorious work lies before you! General Public, what a Divine purpose your public schools serve!

Many cases of tonsillitis and grip are reported here.

Thornton

Autumn is here and the rustle of leaves and sighing winds make us stop, look, listen.

Willard Collins, Benton Sturgill and others visited in Tennessee and Virginia.

Jno. S. Webb and Henry Adams made a trip to Chattanooga.

Miss Elizabeth Williams attended the U. K. R. E. A. at Hazard last week.

Altemus boasts of 20 or more automobiles.

Church services Sunday were well attended.

W. C. Daniel having sold most of his possessions in our town and having bought a fine home in Louisville will soon locate with his family there. We regret to part with such a valuable citizen.

So as to get advantage of Whitesburg's excellent school facilities, our former friend Will Adams, of Big Cowan, will soon locate on his recently acquired property in town. We welcome such company.

The Mother State

(A Tribute to Virginia)

At Wilmington, Delaware, September 6, Governor Trinkle, who attended the launching at the steamship "State of Virginia," was called upon at a banquet at the Dupont Hotel by Charles R. Miller, a former Governor of Delaware, to respond to a toast to his native State. The Governor of Pennsylvania and other dignitaries were seated at the table. The Virginia Executive replied in these words:

To Virginia—mother of States. Queen of commonwealths, ancient ark of the liberties of the Republic, chief star in the Nations flag.

To Virginia—the land of Washington. She who, with George Mason, gave birth to the bill of rights. She who, through Marshall, interpreted the Constitution; she who through Jefferson, matured and presented our present plan of popular and of representative government.

To that ancient and classic Commonwealth which, standing as the natural gateway between Northern and Southern States, still nurses at her bosom that chastity of honor which was the glory of her youth, which became an example to the nation, and which is today a proverb and a pride with the whole people.

Tested in battle, chastened through adversity, made strong through self-sacrifice, victorious over all—the name of Virginia has become an inspiration to humanity, a challenge and consolation to all that is best in man.

Like trumpet calls, the traditions of bygone years ring for ever through this storied land. The fiery eloquence of Henry, the Godlike nobility of Lee, the majestic impetuosity of Jackson—such are the memories woven into the tapestry of our past by the fingers of Fate and of the gods.

It was in Virginia that Maury the scientist, known to posterity as the "Pathfinder of the Seas," was born, died and is buried. It was in Virginia that Nathaniel Bacon, immortal rebel struck the first blow for freedom against the misrule of George III. John Randolph came to swell the endless line if immortals, as did also Monroe and Madison. The glory which began in the first days of the Colonial government reaches through that intervening vista stretching from George Washington to Woodrow Wilson.

To name a list of great Virginians is but to call the roll of the first statesmen and soldiers of the nation. To withhold the names of Virginia's illustrious sons would be to depopulate the nation's Temple of Fame.

As no land can be greater than its women, so of noble motherhood come the great leaders of our state. Chaste and as pure as the morning, fair and as fragrant as flowers, the womanhood of Virgins adorns with its loveliness the sweetest land on which God ever smiled.

Progress On the Ky-Va Road

(Jackson Times Editorial for Oct. 6, 1922)

"On September 27 the contracts were awarded by the State Highway Commission for the construction of over 20 miles of the Ky-Va Road. The contracts cover portions of this great road in Powell, Wolfe and Perry counties and were let as follows: 8.1 miles in Powell county between Bowen and the Wolfe county line to Codell & Byars at the price of $153,857.29.

2.1 miles in Perry county between Hazard and Christopher to Codell & Byars at the price of $87,060.50.

10.2 miles in Wolfe county between the Powell county line and Campton to Vermillion Co., of Barbourville, at the price of $81,686.17. Work to begin on these contracts at once and to be completed next year.

This leaves to be contracted the road from Campton to the Breathitt county line and 7 miles in Breathitt extending the road to Wolfe county line to complete the Ky-Va Road to Jackson.

Provisions are now being made to finance this bit of the road by Wolfe and Breathitt counties and it is believed contracts will be let by early spring for this part, thus putting all the Ky-Va Road under construction to Jackson.

On the upper end of the road the people are wide awake and in Letcher the greater part of the Ky-Va Road is either built or under contract from Jenkins where the Ky-Va Road intersects with the Mayo Trail to head of Camp Branch 4 miles below Whitesburg and that good county has already voted bonds and has the money to build its part of the Ky-Va Road to the Perry line, and has a wide-awake County Judge, County Attorney and Fiscal Court, all determined to see that every mile of the Ky-Va road in Letcher is under contract by early next spring.

In Perry, Judge Smith, one of the most popular young County Judges in the State, backed by an enterprising County Attorney and a live Fiscal Court, has started work on the Ky-Va Road in Perry and now has a bond issue of $500,000 submitted to the voters with which to continue the work thru Perry and no one has any doubt that the bond issue will carry by a big majority and that every mile of Ky-Va Road in Perry county will be under construction before April of next year. This will put all the Ky-Va Road under construction except that part in Breathitt between Jackson and the Perry county line, and at this writing Judge Little, of Breathitt, and his splendid Fiscal Court are trying hard to find some plan to finance the

"ON TO POUND GAP"

Ky-Road Association Heartily Endorsed by State Highway Commission of Kentucky

Frankfort Ky., Oct. 2 (Special)

In a conference between State Highway Engineer Joe S. Boggs and Col. Jim Maret, the Ky-Va Scout, of Winchester, last Saturday, the importance of live and strong road organizations throughout the State was particularly stressed by Engineer Boggs, who said:

"The point that I endeavored to bring out at the Winchester meeting of the Ky-Va Road Association on September 21 was, briefly, that the State needs more progressive and energetic road organizations like the Ky-Va Association for the purpose of arousing public opinion to the necessity of not only constructing the primary system of State roads but to the impossible task that now confronts the State Highway Commission in their construction unless additional funds are provided for that purpose. I have given a good deal of thought to the best method of financing this system of roads, and for sometime have had the sincere opinion that a bond issue of $50,000,000 to $75,000,000 is the most feasible plan. The tax payers of the State will not permit either political party to increase the State tax rate, but by capitalizing the present road fund, which is largely derived from automobile tax, the sinking fund and the interest charge of a $50,000,000 bond issue can be constructed in five to six years by the bond issue plan, without affecting the present tax rate of the State at all, if such is predicated on the use of our present income.

"As an election for a bond issue will first have to be called by the legislature before popular ratification, a good many large road associations like the one with which you are now identified can so arouse public opinion in the fall elections of 1923 as to commit both political parties to the plan and to elect a Governor and a legislature, regardless of political faith, that will submit the question to the electorate. It is my firm conviction that when this question is submitted to the people for a vote, with a proper educational campaign behind it, it will carry by a very handsome majority and assure the State a system of modern roads while most of the present generation is still alive.

"In this speech at Winchester I also called attention to the 'mud tax' that is now being paid by the people of this State, which at a conservative estimate totals not less than $25,000,000 a year, and if the truth was known I expect amounts to $75,000,000 a year. I arrived at these figures by estimating that the 120,000 automobiles in the State are damaged at least $100 each per year additionally on account of bad trunk line roads, which alone is the staggering sum of $12,000,000. All other vehicular traffic, the number of which is many times that of automobiles, can without doubt be estimated at the same. If in addition to this you take into consideration the comfort and welfare of the average citizen we must add an additional million dollars, making a conservative 'mud tax' of $25,000,000 per year that no sheriff collects but which everyone is compelled to pay if he owns an automobile, truck, farm wagon, or other type of vehicle.

"I, therefore, sincerely believe that if the main trunk line projects of the State each had a live organization behind them to assist in crystallized public opinion and to help educate the average citizen they could soon bring about far better highway conditions in this State."

The Ky-Va Road Association was organized at Jackson on July 14, 1922, adopting the motto "On to Pound Gap." M. H. Holliday, of Jackson, was made President and Eula Hammons, of Jackson, Secy.-Treas., Judge J. A. Smith, of Hazard, Vice Pres., and one director chosen for each county along the routing. Col. Jim Maret, the Boone Way man, of Lexington, press agent, was dubbed the Ky-Va Scout.

The organization has already accomplished much and is pushing the proposition in a business-like way, with fine prospects of securing a good highway from Lexington through Winchester, Stanton, Campton, Jackson, Hazard, Whitesburg, Jendins, and "on to Pound Gap" in 1925.

EDITORIAL

Having been for years one of the country's foremost business men, handling herculean tasks and constantly engrossed with them, like many other good business executives have done, John G. Smyth died without making a will.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith had no children and therefore under the law the real estate of decedent would go to his brothers and sisters, the wife and widow being entitled only to use one-third of it her lifetime. One half the personal property would go to the brothers and sisters and the other half to the widow.

Throughout the meteoric business career of Mr. Smyth, his widow was his faithful adviser and helper, she being a brilliant business woman, and much of the wealth accumulated was due to her to the constant help rendered by her.

Now, the heirs-at-law of Mr. Smyth, his brothers and sisters, have joined in deeds making Mrs. Smyth the legal owner of all the property. This is a highly commendable act and carries out in effect what all know was Mr. Smyth's wishes. This fine example speaks for itself.

It is so dry! In spite of themselves many people may expect coughs, colds, typhoid and intestinal troubles. People ought to learn of themselves without the advice of the health authorities that filth lying around giving off poisonous vapors constantly is the parent of many diseases. For instance, take a peep at the poor old Northfork right in town, and see its dreadful condition. Regular swarms of death-germs are being given off each day from such cess-pools. And yet people wonder why they are not as well as they should be. It is the Eagle's business to exploit danger when it sees it, and in this instance it is only calling attention to things that look dangerous. We are far from the appellation of a kicker.

Why Suffer?

Cardui "Did Wonders for Me," Declares This Lady.

"I suffered for a long time with womanly weakness," says Mrs. J. R. Simpson, of 57 Spruce St., Asheville, N. C. "I finally got to the place where it was an effort for me to go. I would have bearing-down pains in my side and back - especially severe across my back, and down in my side there was a great deal of soreness. I was nervous and easily upset."

CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

"I heard of Cardui and decided to use it," continues Mrs. Simpson. "I saw shortly it was benefiting me, so I kept it up and it did wonders for me. And since then I have been glad to praise Cardui. It is the best woman's tonic made. Weak women need a tonic. Thousands and thousands, like Mrs. Simpson, have found Cardui of benefit to them. Try Cardui for your trouble."

Her Rheumatism Has Entirely Disappeared

The successful treatment of rheumatism by taking Tanlac is one of the outstanding features of that remarkable medicine. Thousands of people everywhere have testified that it has brought them complete relief from this torturous disease. Mrs. M. Hickey of 1313 Milburn Ave., Toledo, Ohio, says:

"For seven years I was in a very week, run-down condition, but my worst trouble was rheumatism which was so bad I could hardly walk. Tanlac built up my whole system wonderfully and I hardly notice any rheumatic pains any more; in fact, I feel better than I have in years."

When the digestive system, liver and kidneys are not working properly, uric acid and other impurities accumulate in the muscles and joints, causing rheumatism. Tanlac quickly overcomes this condition by enabling the vital organs to perform their functions properly. Get a bottle today, at any good druggist.

Good Mother Called

On this evening Mrs. Cynthia Collier, lifelong and faithful companion of our townsman, H. M. Collier, passed peacefully to a bright reward on Heaven's Elysian shores. She was in her 68th year and from early womanhood had been a consistent Christian. She was a Virginian by birth and no more highly admired or better loved lady ever lived. Mrs. Collier had been in poor health for sometime and this morning went out to the barn alone, and along up in the morning a neighbor not seeing her about her premises call to see what could be wrong. She was found near the barn in an unconscious condition. Help and Physicians were summoned but she barely gained consciousness till she passed away in the evening. She leaves several children, a heart-broken husband and a great circle of loving friends to mourn her loss. To all we offer the hand of sympathy.

county's part of this last link in the Ky-Va Road and thus make it a reality.

It is to be hoped that all these projects may be successful and every mile of this great and much needed highway be contracted for within the next few months and the drainage of it completed next year.

The State Highway Commission seem to be wide awake to the importance of this road to the State and are ready to do all they can to get the several contracts let and the entire road under construction.

As we see it, the people along this road at this time should all urge and assist in every way possible their Fiscal Courts to fund these projects and vote bond issues where bond issues are needed to provide money with which to build this road.

Let us all work together with but one aim and one purpose and let that be to build the Ky-Va Road at the earliest possible date.

Notice to Prospective Light and Power Users

The Kentucky & West Virginia Power Co. will begin furnishing electric service in Whitesburg about November 1 or sooner, and in order to furnish safe and efficient service, the Company will require each customer to put his service wires in safe condition before current will be turned on.

1 The customer's wiring should be brought outside the building nearest the Utility's distributing lines at a point at least 16 feet and not more than 20 feet above the ground, except on buildings whose structure will not permit of suitable attachment at this height but should terminate at a point where it will not interfere with windows, awnings or other parts of the building, and so located that it will be readily accessible to service wires brought from the Utility's pole. In case the pole line from which service is to be given is not in position, inquiry should be made to the Utility for information as to its proposed location.

2 All connections between the service entrance and meter location should be in exposed Rigid Iron Conduit, such conduit to be well grounded. Wire in this conduit should be rubber covered not less than No. 8 B. & S. Gauge copper, and as much larger as may be necessary to supply the connected load without voltage loss as specified by the National Electric Code.

3 An approved weatherproof conduit fitting should be provided on the end of the iron conduit where the service connection is to be made.

4 Each wire of the Customer's wiring should extend at least 18 inches beyond the end of the conduit for the Utility to attach its wires thereto.

5 Service entrance should be so located that it will not be necessary for the Utility to install more than one set of wire attachments on Customer's premises to support the Utility's service wires.

6 Substantial supports for attaching the Utility's service wires to buildings, in which wood or lag screws at least 4 1/2 inches long may be used, should be provided on all tile, stucco, concrete, glass-ter metal lath and sheet iron buildings.

7 Individual services will not be run to buildings under the same ownership, double houses or apartment buildings.

8 Customer should run service wires from houses on opposite ends of lots to a point where the Utility can connect to same from its nearest distributing point. Such wiring shall be in plain view from the street or public thoroughfare for its entire length.

9 Where the Customer has both power and lighting installation for Alternating Current Service ordinarily but one service outlet will be required, providing the power is 220 volts and lighting 110-120 volts. Special conditions frequently arise to modify this and it is always advisable to consult the Utility before installing such outlets. In the Direct Current district the general requirement is that separate conduits and outlets should be provided for power and light. We recommend separate services for power and light on alternating current installments of 5 h. p. and above. (adv)

But it can be done, is done with Ce-re-a-lia Sweets. We're so sure that Ce-re-a-lia will increase milk production that we offer:
